Welcome to the Raj Soin College of Business!

10 suggestions to start off on the Wright foot:

1. MAKE AN APPOINTMENT: Meet with your Academic Advisor to discuss your program, including credit for transfer classes, course sequences, qualifying exams (if any) and to outline a plan for the next academic year. Check out the "Major Fact Sheet" for information on your major classes, and the "Course Planning Guide" to see when classes will be offered during the upcoming academic year.

2. SCHEDULE PLACEMENT TESTS: If required, schedule your English and/or math placement exams at testing services (www.wright.edu/university-college/testing). Use the resources listed on the website to prepare so that you will be placed into the appropriate level.

3. REGISTER: Register for your chosen classes by logging into Wings >> Wings Express >> Student and Financial Aid >> Registration and Records >> Look Up Classes. Choose your semester and then select the course prefix and other required fields (Main Campus/Undergraduate Level/All Terms) to find out what classes are offered. Get more information about the class by clicking on the 5-digit CRN number, including a course description, and the required prerequisite class (if any). If the class is already full, "waitlist" it. Instructions are at the top of the class lookup results page. Make sure you understand the waitlist process, as well as the notification process.

Also, check out when your tuition is due through Wings Express >> Students and Financial Aid >> Student Fees. Make sure it's paid on time or you may get dropped from your classes.

4. GET YOUR STUDENT ID: Get your student ID at the “Wright1” office located in 234 Student Union. Your Wright1 card also serves as a pre-paid debit card for vendors, vending machines, campus printers, and copiers. It's also your library card and gives you access to recreation facilities, and certain labs on-campus – including our world-class Soin Trading Center.

5. GET YOUR PARKING PASS: Purchase your pass online at http://www.wright.edu/parking-and-transportation. Make sure you do this in advance of the start of the semester as all students must have a valid parking pass.

6. LOOK UP YOUR TEXTBOOKS: Check out the campus bookstore online to look up your textbooks.

7. GET INVOLVED: There are numerous student groups and organizations on campus. Check out the Office of Student Activities for information (www.wright.edu/student-activities/student-organizations). There are additional campus organizations such as The Women's Center, Bolinga Black Cultural Resources Center, and the Asian/Hispanic/Native American Center.
8. KNOW YOUR ACADEMIC RESOURCES: There are many resources available for Wright State University students. Check out the WSU Student Handbook (http://www.wright.edu/student-handbook) for a full list.

- The Student Academic Success Center offers several important services including:
  - Tutoring Services – helps students achieve their individual academic goals in all disciplines and become independent and successful learners. Located in 023R Dunbar Library.
  - Supplemental Instruction – helps students review course concepts, improve their study habits, and become better prepared for exams and assignments. Located in 023R Dunbar Library.
  - Mathematics Learning Center – helps students become more confident, autonomous, and proficient learners in math by providing a supportive environment for all math students to work and learn. Located in 031 Dunbar Library.
  - University Writing Center – helps students become more confident, independent writers, thereby enhancing their educational experiences at Wright State University and their professional experiences beyond college. Located 031 Dunbar Library.

- Student Health Services Office and Counseling and Wellness Services Office offer primary health care and mental health counselors respectively. Workout facilities and group exercise classes are free for students with your student ID card.

- Computing and Telecommunications (CaTS) helps set up your WSU computer account, so if you are having trouble logging in, they are the ones to speak with. CaTS Home Base has computers and software for purchase at a fraction of the cost in a regular store.

- The University Library has many print and online resources to assist your research for essays, term papers, projects, and reports. There is even a librarian who is an expert in “all things related to business” and can help you find almost anything you are looking for.

- DARS – the Degree Audit is a real-time online report that shows you your degree requirements including what has been completed to date, and what is remaining. After you register for a semester, run your DARS audit to make sure that classes are being used in your degree. Learn to read it!

9. CHECK OUT SOME OF THESE GREAT OPPORTUNITIES:

- CAREER SERVICES: Career Services provides numerous services, including help finding on-campus and off-campus jobs, co-ops, and guidance in choosing a major. They can help you with your resume, and even mock interviews!

- INTERNSHIPS: Internships provide students valuable real-world experience in their profession. Students can usually register for internship credit to count toward degree requirements. Please see the department of your major for more information.

- STUDY ABROAD: Studying in another country can be fun and educational, and is a great way to learn more about other cultures and prepare to work in a global society. It is also valued by employers. Contact the University Center for International Education (UCIE) to learn more about short-term and long-term options.

10. FOLLOW UP: Touch base with your Advisor if any other issues or questions arise! We highly recommend that students meet with their advisor before the start of every academic year just to ensure that they are on-track!
